The people Jesus sent out in pairs like lambs among wolves were sent to serve. Their mission was to bring a message of peace, to heal, and to tell that the kingdom of God was at hand.

This mission is urgent – still – and there is still an urgent need for workers to gather in the harvest. Each of us must consider how Jesus, through his Spirit, is calling us to serve. What is our ministry to involve? Where are we being called to serve? How will we answer those who have questions about life, and faith?

One thing is certain: not everyone will accept the gospel message we bring. However, we do have a message. May it bring life, hope, healing, and help, for we are sent out to serve in Christ's name.

Ian

I'll be on leave for two weeks after Tuesday 8th July and Chris McAvenna will be preparing the Grapevine in my absence. Please send notices to her for the Grapevines on 13th and 20th July - before 12 noon on Wednesday –
